the Whiskey Baid Case - Internal Revenue Frauds-The Bradford Absconding Case-The Alleged Outrages on the Noptune-The Church Street Extension-Grand Larceny.

> UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' COURT. The Bailey-Cook Whiskey Cuse.

Before Commissioner Betts.

The United States vs. Martin R. Cook.—The exmination in this case was resumed yesterday. As inconveniently crowded. At the opening of the court counsel for the defence moved that the charge against Cook be dismissed, as no offence had been proven. It had been endavored to prove tnan the one specified, but no direct avidence had been given showing that the offence d had been committed, much less that Cook armitted it. The search warrant against Gordon, Fellows & McMillan was issued and executed long before any ameavit stating facts had been made. The offence charged was alleged to have been committed long before Collector Bailey came under no official obligation to take the extraordi-nary steps he had taken in this case. The prosecution was predicated upon certain entries in the books and papers of the firm, which the prosecution had taken upon listly to interpret to suit is own ends. It had been sought to obtain evidence against the accessed by seizing the books and papers in advance of making a criminal charge. Not a line of writing proved to be Cook's had been given in evidence. It had not been shown how many gations the 133 barres in question contained, and, consequently, it could not be shown whether any fraud was committed in gauging the whiskey at the moment when it was withdrawn from bond and on which the tax was paid. It had not even been shown what the barres in question contained. It was all presumption and inference. A paper voluntarity given into possession of the government by Cook had been introduced as strong evidence against him, on the ground that he knew and was responsible for its contents. It was improbable that if the contents of that paper sho ed frand, and Cook knew its contents, that he would have voluntarily furnished evidence of his own guilt. It was improbable that it the contents of his own guilt, it was ignorant of its contents. The sworn official recturn of Farrington as to the contents of the last barrels was of more weight than mere uncoiled deciarations found in the books and papers of Gordon. Fellows & McMillan. The entires in these books and papers were susceptible of being explanated in such a manner as to show the cautre innocence of Gordon, Fellows & McMillan of any complicity in the offence charged, out these parties and not insend to disclose the secrets of their business when no case had been made out implicating them in any offence. cution was predicated upon certain entries in case had been made out implicating them in any offence.

District autorney Pierrepont, in reply, said that all the circumstances surrounding the case went to show to any one using his sense and judgment that guilt existed in this case and that the evidence introduced instenct that guilt existed in this case and that the evidence introduced instenct that guilt existed in this case and that the evidence introduced instenct that guilt existed in this case and that the cyclence of the winskey in question, the gauging by Farrington at the windrawal from bond returning the parrels as containing about a thousand gallons less than returned by tim a short time previously. It had been shown that Cook was the act vo party in withdrawing the winskey, and that he had, about the time of the windrawal, frequently sent envelopes, undoubtedly containing money, to Farrington; and, in adminion to this proot, the books and papers of Gordon, Ferlows & McMillian conclusively showed that the barrels in question, on being withdrawn, contained about the amount returned by Farrington when the latter first gauged it on its being entered in bond. Fr. Pierrepont them went ever the evidence in detail, and claimed that the evidence as it stood, university of the case being sent to the Grand Jury.

The case was unan adjourned until to day.

Alleged Internal Revenue Fraud.

The United States vs. Thomas Ryan,-The defer

lant was charged with doing business as a wholesale liquor dealer and compounder of distilled spirits wittout paying the internst revenue tax thereon. Mr. Ethan Allen, ex-onited States District Attorney, appeared for the defundant, and made an able argument on benaif of his client. The Commissioner heid the defendant for trial on the charge of manufacturing inquor without paying the special tax thereon, but dismissed the other charge. SUPREME COURT-TRIAL TERM.

The Church Street Extension-Interesting to Real Estate Owners.

A. Gordon Hamersley et al. vs. The Mayor et al .-In this case the plaintiff's were awarded the sum of extension of Church street. The report was confirmed December 30, 1867. The amount, however, was not paid until the 12th of June, 1869, whereas the plaintiffs claimed that it should have been paid of their application to the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonally, on or about November 28, 1868. This suit was thereupon brought to recover the interest on the sum mentioned from April 30, 1868, until June 12, 1862. Mr. J. Hooker est on the sum mentioned from April 30, 1863, until June 12, 1862. Mr. J. Hooker Hamersley submitted the case on behalf of the property owners that interest was due them from the time of application, by the language of the statute, c. 86, sec. 183, passed April 9, 1813, which runs as follows:—And be it enacted, that the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commonatity shall, within four calendar months after the confirmation of the report of the commissioners in the premises by the court, pay to the respective persons or bodies points or corporate mentioned or referred to in the said report in whose favor any sums of money shall be estimated and reported by the said commissioners, the respective sum or sums so estimated and reported in their favor respectively, and in case of neglect or default in the payment of the saine within the time aforesaid the respectively, and in case of neglect or default in the payment of the saine within the time aforesaid the respectively, and in case of neglect or default in the payment of the saine within the time aforesaid the respectively, and in case of neglect or default in the payment of the same shall be so reported, his heirs or their executors, administrators or successers, at any time or times after application first made by him, her or them to the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality, in Common Counch convened, for payment thereof. May sue for and recover the same, with in wful interest, from and after the same application therefor, and the costs of suit, in any proper form, against the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commonality, in any court having cognizance thereof.

Counse chained interest from a date anterior to the application, to wit, from the expiration of the four calendar months mentioned in the statute—first, under the statute of 1818; second, because the corporation is entitled to the land immediately in confirmation of the report, and the awa d was made with that view; third, because there was no suspension by the Mayor, &c.

Mr. A. J. Vanderpoel argued on the part of the Co cor, oration, that did the opening for fitteen months, and that they exercised that right.

The Court held that the plantings were entitled to

The Court heid that the plaintiffs were entitled to an interest from the date of application and that the resolution of suspension was retroactive and there-fore a nullity, and directed the jury to find a verdict for the plaintiffs for the sum of $3,435.

Inasmuch as this was a test case considerable interest attaches to it, and a large number of other similar cases were awaiing the result. For plaintiff, J. H. Hamersiey; for defendant, A. J. Vanderstell, and the similar cases were awaiing the result.

The Bradford Absconding Case-Motion for

The Mayor et al vs. W. R. Beebe and Charles E. Devlin .- This case came up on a motion to open the judgment and grant a trial. It will be remembered that the defendants were securities, in the sum of $10,000, for Bradford, who occupied the position of Fuolic Administrator, and who, as is alleged, absconded with $37,000 of the funds in his possession. The case was first tried in the year 1506. The plaintiffs demurred, but the demurrer was overruled. The case subsequently went to the General Term, where the decision overruling the demurrer was confirmed. Execution on the judgment, however, was not levied.

Judge Barnard granted the motion and appointed a referee. bered that the defendants were securities, in the

The Ship Neptune Case-Great Cry and Lit-Before Judge Gross.

William Joyce against Captain Peabody .- All the dreumstances of this case have appeared in the HERALD and have been the subject of much public comment. One phase of the case came up yesterday before Judge Gross in which the plaintiff Joyce, as before Judge Gross in which the plaintiff Joyce, as seaman on board the Neptune on ner late voyage, brings action to recover $3.00 damages for alleged personal injuries. This case stood adjourned from Monday last, and as the HaralD usen alluded to the last that the plaintiff's testimony was rambling and contradictory, the proceedings restorday confirmed it. Joyce, on being recalled, continued a disconnected and apparently unmable story. After a long, direct and exhausting cross-examination Judge Beebe, plaintiff's counsel, addressed the Court and said that from the character of the testimony for the plaintiff—seeing that it could not sustain the character of the testimony for the plaintiff—seeing that it could not sustain the character of the testimony for the plaintiff—seeing that it could not sustain the character of the testimony for the plaintiff—seeing that it could not sustain the character of the testimony was read that the character of the testimony for the plaintiff—seeing that it could not sustain the character of the testimony for the plaintiff, and the character of the testimony for the plaintiff of the character of the case and make character of the case always will were seamen make character of crueity against their officers, he had a very different conveners the form Judge Gross orders! too jury to return a verdict for the described, which concluded the Neptune case in the Marine Court.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS Before Recorder Hackett.

The first case disposed of yesterday was a charge of grand larceny against Aaron Goldstein, who, on the 14th inst., stole two dresses, valued at sixty dollars, the property of Rosa Brown. As there was some doubt about the felonious intent. the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty. Peter Cassidy was convicted of petty farceny in stealing some lead rendered a vertilet of not guilty. Peter Cassidy was convoiced of petty larveny in stealing some lead pipe from an unoccupied house in Twenty-fith street, on the 26th of January. He was sent to the Pententary for three months.

ASSAULT UPON AN OFFICER.

Francis Reynolds was tried upon a charge of felonious assault. The prosecuting witness officer Campbell, of the Fourieenth preduct, stated that on the 2d of September he went to the assistance of officer Romains, who was called to arrest keynolds upon the complaint of a man whom he assaulted. They went to the prisoner's house in Mott street, and when altempting to arrest him he brandished a sword and struck officer campoels in the shoulder. The witnesses for the defence prayed that the officers broke into the room and commonced to club Reynolds before he used the sword. The jury, nowever, believed the statements of the officer, and renamed a verdict of guilty of an assault with a dangerous weapon, with intent to do boday hasto. They resommented him to mercy, and on motions of Mr. Howe, who defended the accused with unusual zeal, he was remained for sentence.

John W. Burns pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with stealing on the 18th hist, turry-live dollars' worth of clothing from Michael Monagnan. The Recorder, believing him to be a professional timef, sent him to the State Prison for four years and six months.

May Ann Cann was acquitted of a charge of assuming withan Kierman at 724 sixth avenue, on the 7th inst, she having stabood the complainant in the arm in schi-drence.

Michael Devine was also acquitted of a feloulous assualt upon Andrew Callen, charged to have occurred in East Broadway, on the 7th inst. It appeared that Cullen and other young men were following Devine to take a pistol away from him, and that, being pursued, he fired at Cullen. There was no proof that the pistol was loaded with oah, and the jury believed that the circumstances justified Devine in the use of the weapon.

MURDER CASES.

Upon the adjournment of the court a number of the juryors were greatly disappointed when they learned that District Autorine; Garvin intended to try murder cases next week. Mr. Tweel has activaly co-operated win the Recorder in disposing of a large number of larceny and burgary indict acuts since the beginning of the term, which has relieved the prison very materially. An adoitional panel of juries was second the effects put forta by Judge Garvin and the Court criminal justice will be promptly and efficiently administered and crime greatly diminished in our midst.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT.

The Navy Yard Embizz'ement-Application of R. D. Bogart for a New Trial of the Condemnation Suit-New Evidence. Before Judge Benedict.
The case of The United States vs. Robert D. Bo-part was again called up in a new phase. In December, 1868, the defendant, who was employ-ed as paymaster's cierk at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, was charged with having embezzied about $7,000 belonging to the government. When the police sought for him he was not to be found, and proceedings were commenced against him in the United States Circuit Court. A team of horses and a wagon, and other valuable property, valued at $1,800. and other valuable property, valued at $1,800, were seized by the government, and on the trial it was shown that the amount of money alleged to have been appropriated by Bogart was $27,223 50. This suit, in the absence of the defendant, was decided in favor of the government and judgment was rendered against Bogart for the above mentioned amount. Last fail Bogart was arrested in Houston, Texas, and brought to Brookiyn. He was then handed over to the naval authorities and tried by court markal; but when the evidence and findings of the court were forwarded to Washington the Secretary of the Navy directed that he should be turned over to the civil authorities. After that was done the accused was released on ban, and is still awaiting trial on an indictment found against him about six months ago. Yesterday his counsel applied to Judge Benedict for leave to make a motion for a new trial of the ground that since the return of the defendant new evidence in to make a motion for a new trial of the ground that since the return of the defendant new evidence in his favor has been discovered. The Judge directed that the necessary papers should be prepared and handed to him for inspection. It is expected that the formal motion for a new trial will be made in

KINGS COUNTY COURT OF SESSIONS.

Ten Years for an Attempt at Burglary. Before Judge Troy.
Two young men, named John E. Marshall and attempt at burgiary. It appears that on the night of the 27th of January last, as Mr. Anthony Comstock was passing through Willoughby street, at about nine o'clock at night, his attention was attracted when opposite No. 70 by the noise of the insertion of a key in the door of the basement under the stoop. Stopping, he saw the accused issue from the area and go down the street. Following them he saw them enter the areas of several houses and make apparent attempts at opening doors; following them until he met officer Quick, he informed the officer of what he had seen. The officer proceeded to arreat the men, one of whom he took standing in front of No. 368 Bridge street, and the other as he came out of the area of No. 338 Bridge street. Upon one were found a linen bag and a skeleton key. The prisoners set up the defence that Marshail had met on a previous occasion two girs while "crossing on the ferry" and had made an engagement to meet them on the corper of Bridge and whiloughby streets on the night in question. Not finding them there he proceeded with Cox, whom he had brought with him, to use his own words, "to keep him company with one of the girls" to the house No. 70, where one of the girls had said she lived. She had to d him to open the door and come right in. They then went to look for the house where the other girl said she lived, in Bridge street, where they were arrested.

The jury brought in a verdict of guilty, and the Court passed sentence of ten years' imprisonment in the State Prison. and go down; the street. Following them he

Many Frightened, but No One Hurt.

[From the Alia California, Feb. 18.]

At about twelve minutes past twelve o'clock yearday there were two perceptible, but not severe, snocks of earthquake feit throughout nearly all the city. As is usual upon feeling the slightest tremor from the broad foundation upon which we stand, there was a momentary reeing of danger, which was however, speedily forgotten. O'c course many people rushed into the streets, not because they were frightened—certainly not—out just to see why the crowd collected. Small tables, which a few moments previously had been surrounded by a crowd, were rendered tenantiess. It being, however, speedily ascertained that no damage had been started from his foundations or cracked in its walls, people returned to their ordinary avocations, and in a snort time the subject of the shock became of the past and was apparently forgotten.

After a careful scarca througa the different portions of the city none of our reporters could find any evidence of damage naving been done to any building further than the cracking of a few panes of glass, which may or may not have been caused by the earthquake. The reports which are usually in circulation upon similar occasions in reference to the fall of plastering, mitrors and glasses were not wanting this time. Of course there were more or less rumors and idle stories shout upon the streets, but generally awestruck at cracks in the outer coating which had been in existence for the last two years.

The old wharves and rickety buildings along the city front, which rest upon piers half caten by worms or rotted, were of course somewhat snaken, but in spite of their age and infirmities they held their own and not one of the wretched affairs fell down. The people inhabiting that locality ran up town, of course not because they were frightened, but to assast, if possible, those who had probably been hurt up town. In short, nearly every man sad an excussion being absent from his proper place.
